Thursday, 1873.

Personal.

W. H. McCaw, Esq., the accomplished editor of the Columbia South Carolinian, was in our town on Tuesday last, and received a goodly accession to his subscription list. We are glad to know that the paper is prospering under his vigorous management.

Judge Orr in St. Petersburg.

The telegraph brings the news that our distinguished townsman, Hon. James L. Orr, arrived safely in St. Petersburg, and presented his credentials to the Czar on last Thursday. He was graciously received, and the usual compliments were passed. His numerous friends will be pleased to learn of his safe arrival, and that the trip across the Atlantic was pleasant and agreeable, as we are informed by private advices.

Deaths.

Mr. William Bailey, an esteemed citizen, died at his residence three miles northeast of town, on Monday night last, in the 76th year of his age, after an illness of only five days. He was a member of the Presbyterian Church at Midway, where his remains were interred on Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Mary Rankin and Mr. Baylis Watkins, of the Slatetown neighborhood, died recently. Both were octogenarians, we believe, and were universally respected wherever known.

Incondiarism.

We are reliably informed that the large gin-house, gin, thrasher and machinery, situated on Snow Creek, in Oconee County, and belonging to J. B. Hilton, Esq., of Pomleton, were entirely destroyed by fire on Sunday night, 9th inst. This is clearly the work of an incendiary, as none of the machinery had been in use for six or eight months, and there was no cotton in the house, which contained only cow-food, (hay and straw,) and no authorized person had been to the house for either in less than ten days. No cause has been assigned for the deed, and there is no clue as to the perpetrator.
